ABSTRACT

This report provides information about the cost of attending Pennsylvania colleges and universities, including tuition, required fees, and room and board charges for the year 1995-96 as well as trend information for the past 10 years. The main source of the data was an annual survey of 145 Pennsylvania colleges and universities. Comparative national data are also provided. Tables and figures present the following data: (1) average annual increase in undergraduate in-state basic student charges vs. the consumer price index, 1986-87 through 1995-96; (2) average undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees by institutional category, 1986-87 through 1995-96; (3) average annual increase in undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees, 1986-87 through 1995-96; (4) average combined room and board charges by institutional category, 1986-87 through 1995-96; (5) average annual increase in room and board charges, 1986-87 through 1995-96; (6) average basic student charges by institutional category, 1995-96; and (7) average undergraduate basic student charges in 4-year institutions, United States, Pennsylvania, and selected neighboring states, 1994-95. Appendixes provide additional data, a glossary, and notes on sources. (MDM)

OVERVIEW

This publication provides information about the cost of attending Pennsylvania colleges and universities. It lists tuition and required fees for undergraduate, graduate and first-professional programs, as well as room and board charges by institution. In addition, historical data by institutional category for the past 10 years is provided and compared with the average increase in the Consumer Price Index during the same period. National data by state, as well as a graphic presentation of these costs for selected neighboring states, compares how Pennsylvania ranked in relation to these states.

The source of this data is an annual survey of 145 Pennsylvania colleges and universities. An estimate is provided for one nonresponding institution. In addition, the data for branch campuses, where available, is also provided. National data was drawn from the results of a survey conducted by the U. S. Department of Education, National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). Consumer price indices were obtained from the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics.

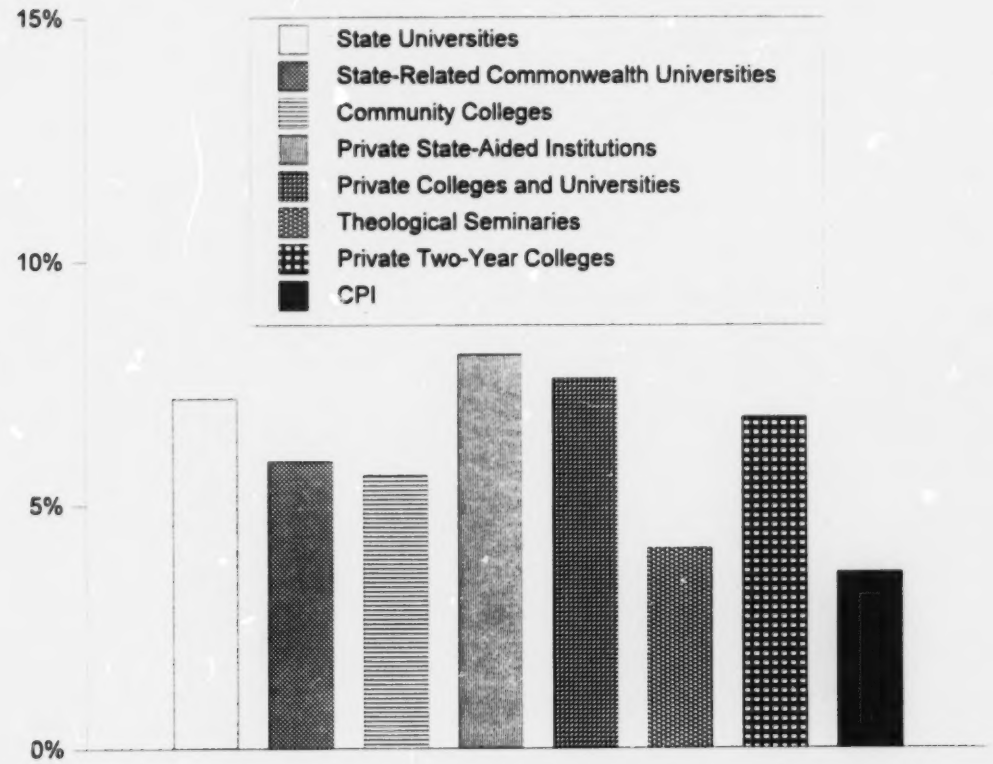
AVERAGE ANNUAL INCREASE IN UNDERGRADUATE IN-STATE BASIC STUDENT CHARGES VS THE CPI
1986-87 THROUGH 1995-96



Note: Average annual increase in undergraduate in-state basic student charges for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology is not included because this school was not authorized to grant associate degrees prior to passage of Act 211 of 1990.

The average annual increase in undergraduate in-state basic student charges (tuition, required fees, and room and board) for each institutional category was higher than the average increase in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) for the past 10 years. For example, during the period July 1985 through June 1995, the CPI rose an average of 3.6% annually (1982-84=100.0), whereas the average increase in basic student charges between 1986-87 and 1995-96 ranged between 4.1% for theological seminaries and 8.1% for private state-aided institutions.

...state universities had the largest percentage increase in undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees since 1986-87...

Note: Tuition and required fees for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology were included starting in 1990-91 because Act 211 of 1990 authorized this school to grant associate degrees.

Over the past ten years, undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees more than doubled at state universities (109.7%) and private colleges and universities (101.6%). The increase at the theological seminaries was the lowest (58.6%).

For the 12 months ending in June 1995, the rate of inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, was 2.9%. Increases in undergraduate tuition and required fees for 1995-96 in all but two categories of Pennsylvania colleges and universities exceeded the Consumer Price Index. With the exception of community colleges, the average percentage increase was lower in 1995-96 as compared to 1994-95 for all categories of institutions. Private two-year colleges had the lowest percentage increase as a result of including the Pennsylvania Institute of Technology for the first time in 1995-96. Specifically, the increases were: community colleges, 6.6%; private colleges and universities, 5.5%; state universities, 5.1%; private state-aided institutions, 5.0%; state-related commonwealth universities and state school of technology, each 4.9%; theological seminaries, 1.9%; and private two-year colleges, 0.3%.

Note: Average annual increase in undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology is not included because this school was not authorized to grant associate degrees prior to passage of Act 211 of 1990.

Among public institutions, state universities had the highest average annual increase in undergraduate in-state tuition and required fees since 1986-87. Specifically, the increases were: state universities, 8.3%; state-related commonwealth universities, 6.5%; and community colleges, 5.6%. For private institutions, the increases were: private colleges and universities, 8.2%; private state-aided institutions, 7.9%; private two-year colleges, 7.7%; and theological seminaries, 4.9%.

Note 1. Community colleges are not listed since room and board charges are not applicable.

2. Room and board charges for the Thaddeus Stevens State School of Technology were included starting in 1990-91 because Act 211 of 1990 authorized this school to grant associate degrees.

Private state-aided institutions room and board charges more than doubled (104.9%) since 1986-87, while the increase at theological seminaries was the lowest (16.5%). The increases in other categories ranged from 55.9% to 71.9%.

With the exception of theological seminaries, the 1995-96 average percentage increases in room and board charges for all categories of institutions were higher than the Consumer Price Index (2.9%). The average room and board charges for theological seminaries decreased by 4.8% in 1995-96. This decrease was largely effected by the elimination of board services at Lancaster Theological Seminary. Private two-year colleges had the highest percentage increase in room and board charges. Specifically, when compared to 1994-95, the average increases were: private two-year colleges, 8.1%; state school of technology, 7.1%; state-related commonwealth universities, 5.0%; private colleges and universities, 4.1%; state universities and private state-aided institutions, each 3.3%.

With the exception of theological seminaries, the average increases in room and board charges were higher than the average increase in the Consumer Price Index (3.6%) during the past decade. The smallest average increase was at the theological seminaries (2.6%) while percentages for the remaining categories ranged from 5.1% to 8.7%.

Note: A dash (-) indicates "not applicable."

For 1995-96, average undergraduate basic student charges at four-year colleges ranged from $6,215 per academic year for students attending theological seminaries to $21,267 for students attending private state-aided institutions. For two-year institutions, the averages were $12,956 for private two-year colleges, $8,205 for the state school of technology and $1,797 for community colleges (no room and board).

With the exception of theological seminaries and private two-year colleges, increases in basic student charges were greater than the increase in the Consumer Price Index (2.9%). Increases at community colleges jumped 6.6%, while increases at the state school of technology, private colleges and universities, state-related commonwealth universities, private state-aided institutions and state universities were 5.9%, 5.1%, 5.0%, 4.4% and 4.2%, respectively. Private two-year colleges had an increase of 2.9%, while theological seminaries decreased by 1.2%.

Pennsylvania had the fourth highest charges among four-year public institutions in the nation in 1994-95. Pennsylvania institutions charged on the average $8,664 against the national average of $6,674. All the neighboring states listed exceeded the national average. The average for Pennsylvania private four-year colleges and universities was the ninth highest. These institutions charged on the average $19,035 compared to the national average of $16,646. Only Ohio, of the neighboring states, had charges lower than the national average.

1/ Preliminary data based on fall 1993 enrollments.

Note 1. A dash (-) indicates data not reported or not applicable.

2. Data are for the entire academic year and are average charges. Tuition and fees were weighted by the number of full-time equivalent undergraduates but are not adjusted to reflect residency. Room and board were based on full-time students.

GLOSSARY

BASIC STUDENT CHARGES - Includes tuition, required fees and room and board charges for a full-time undergraduate, graduate or first-professional educational program.

BOARD CHARGES - Charges for a 7-day meal plan. Where a 7-day meal plan is not available, 6-day or 5-day meal plans are used in calculating the averages. The averages do not include board charges at branch campuses.

CONTRACT STATE - A state having a contract with a Pennsylvania college for which students are charged a reduced tuition for certain programs. The contract state for the University of Pennsylvania is Puerto Rico. For the Pennsylvania College of Optometry, the contract states are Delaware, Nebraska, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

FIRST-PROFESSIONAL STUDENT - A student who is enrolled in a professional school or program that requires at least two academic years of college work for entrance and a total of at least six years for a degree.

REQUIRED FEES - Fees required of all students or by such a large portion of students that someone not paying the particular fee is an exception.

ROOM CHARGES - Charges based on double occupancy for a full academic year. The averages do not include room charges at branch campuses.

TUITION - The typical nine-month charge for a full-time student. Calculated averages include full-time in-state students (from sponsoring districts for community colleges) attending day school at the main campus. An exception to the main campus rule is the inclusion of the first-professional medical program at the Pennsylvania State University, Hershey Medical Center. As an additional note, community college charges for in-state students residing in nonsponsoring districts are approximately twice the listed amount for in-state students in sponsoring districts. Excluded from calculated averages are those charges listed on a credit hour or per course basis.
